Agastya Gurukulam – shastra based Samskritam education

August 26, 2022

HinduPost Desk

Agastya Gurukulam is a US-based non-profit organization providing traditional education. Their Twitter profile says they are the world's first online Samskrit Immersion school.

The institution is dedicated to the cause of education rooted in the traditional Bharatiya knowledge systems. Their aim is to revive the pre-Macaulay era method of Bharatiya education.

It provides both homeschooling (full-time Gurukulam school) and co-schooling (part-time school). The homeschooling curriculum uses NCERT's CBSE books.

Explaining their philosophy the site says, "The traditional sequence of teaching begins with memorization-centric instruction for the first few years, followed by logic-centric education in the second phase and a rhetoric level of education that focuses on research and self-expression.

The organization holds classes online with biannual camps. The organization lays emphasis on good health which is evident from the fact that the school day begins with Yoga practice.

There is a need for more such institutions teaching the Indic way of life that blends traditional indigenous education with modern education.
